MOTTO OF MALABAR SPECIAL POLICE

The Motto of Malabar Special Police is “YUDHIVIKRAMA” that was written by a famous scholar and astrologist of Calicut in 1930’s, Sri Norman Achutan Nair and adored ever since. The spirit of the motto ever remained as the Beacon to remain the force of its responsibility in performing the duties under the conditions whether normal or adverse, friendly or hostile, last but not least, peaceful and dreadful.

VISSION & MISSION

MALABAR SPECIAL POLICE has won many laurels as it emerged as one of the best police forces in the Kerala state in terms of management of police administration, maintenance of law and order and its involvement in various social oriented programme and schemes. A Police Officer is the bonafide law employee of the police force to be more generally termed as the Law Enforcement Officer or peace maintaining officer of the state. ‘Officer’ is a generic term and it does not specify a particular rank. The lowest rank in MALABAR SPECIAL POLICE is Police Constable and the highest ranked officer in it is The Commandant.

The role of police force has also changed drastically with the change in times, Malabar special police is providing high class technical training, advanced Arms training and self- defence. As a part of social policing MSP is provided with Janamaithri Sureksha kendram. Janamaithri Kendram provides the basic infra-structure for sustaining the community policing programme. Malabar Special Police has an inseparable part in the history of Armed Police Battalion and will continue its prestigious journey for the wellness and integrity of the nation.

The responsibilities of the police officers are varied and differ greatly according to social, demographical, geographical and political situations prevailing in the country. Apart from the typical duties like maintenance of law & order, protection of life and property of citizens, investigation of crimes, the police officers are expected to respond to variety of situations that assume a direct bearing on the life and security of the citizens a saw hole like natural calamities, manmade disasters etc. Rules and regulations are there that dictate how a police officer shall behave within the community and respond to the offensive, criminal acts on the part of the citizens. The function of the Police is not confined to enforcement of law only, but they are responsible for discouraging crimes as well through surveillance and high visibility.

CHRONICLE OF MALABAR SPECIAL POLICE

POLICE IN ANCIENT KERALA

No authoritative records are available describing the history of policing in the ancient Kerala. The literary works of the Sangamon period depict the ancient policing system. Appointment of Sentries and watchmen on the highway stop, protect the travelers and caravans of merchants of these were referred to in those ancient literatures. The literary works of Sanghom period also describe various types of ‘Kaval’ (guard), Kanchukil (who had kanchukam or uniform), Dwarapalakas (Armed men guarding the gates and entrance and Kolkaran (man armed with a stick). Those who were posted in the secret service section were described as ‘Charan’, ‘Doothan’, Apasarpakan and Goodapurushan. Foreign travelers who visited Kerala during 13th century had admired the structure of the Police- judicial system which existed during that period.

During the 16th and 17th centuries the Kings of Kerala including Travancore copied many things from the Mughals. Thus there were ‘Thahsildars’ heading the ‘law & order’ and the Revenue department of a taluk at that time. Thahsildars were in-charge of local administration. The terminology given to police officials in the low ranks was ‘Vicharippu, Police Nayak, Jamadar, Havildar, Daffedar, Naikans, Mudhalpar, peons,’ etc. The ancient system of police with the help of Adhikaris (Village, Revenue Officer) continued in different forms in different parts of the state.

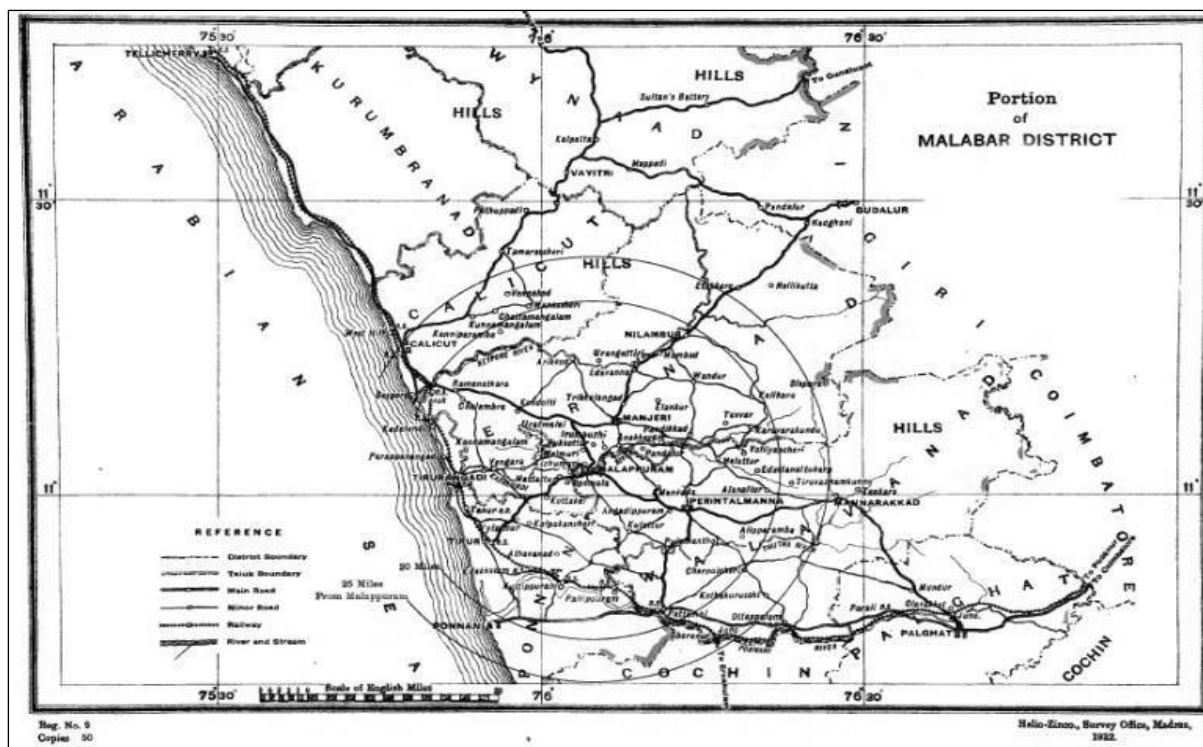

In 1834 there was reorganization of police with new revenue divisions under the charge of officers called as Diwan Peshkars. They were actually officials with the charge of the present day District Collector, Magistrate and Superintendent of Police put together. In 1847 the second regulation came into effect and in 1854 a complete reorganization of police came into existence.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF MALABAR SPECIAL POLICE

Since its inception, the MSP has successfully overcome all limitations and established itself as a crack corps. The beginnings of this Force are to be found in the Nayar sibbandy Corps raised under native chieftain towards the end of the 18th century. The Nayar Sibbandy Corps was developed to overawe the Moplahs. Later their place was taken up by a Force of 500 armed policemen raised mainly for the purpose of collecting revenue. The Force suppressed a gang of Moplah fanatics, who settled in Chembrasserri Village. The MSP was made permanent in 1897. The Malappuram Special Force armed with Martin Henri Single- Shot rifles proved insufficient before the guerrilla tactics adopted by the rebels. Nevertheless the members of this Force brought lasting fame to their organization

In the year 1921 Malappuram witnessed a wave of popular unrest and other law and order problems. Richard Hitchcock the District Superintendent of police, south Malabar realized the imperative need to raise a special police force, organized, armed and equipped on the lines of Indian infantry battalion to deal effectively in quelling the rebellion and to ensure law and order as soon as troops are removed. This suggestion was strongly endorsed by Thomas the District Magistrate, and was accepted by the Viceroy's Government on 30th September 1921, which then sanctioned a strength of 6 British officers, 8 Subedars, 16 Jemadars, 60 Havildars and 600 Constables to be formed into 6 companies of auxiliary police with its head quarter at Malappuram. This was the beginning of the Malabar special police as it was run by the British Government and often used to quell local disturbances. The MSP was seen as a symbol of colonial oppression, a view that continues to hold sway today. On the eve of the linguistic reorganization of the states in 1956, the MSP was divided in two. One half of the 6 companies and half of the headquarters company came to the share of Kerala and the other half was allotted to Madras. Presently the MSP is headquartered at Malappuram

ABOUT THE FOUNDER

RH HITCHCOCK

Hitchcock was the First Commandant of Malabar Special Police. He died in 1926 at early age of 42 while on a holiday in London not long after he had completed writing the 'history of Malabar rebellion'

R.H Hitchcock Memorial

Before Tippu Sulthan occupied Malabar, it was administered by Naduvazhis and Desavazhis with the help of local Chieftains. In the early years of 18th century only a primitive Police force comprised of 'Kolkar' was maintaining the law and order in the Malabar area. After the invasion of Tippu, the situation changed as many Naduvazhis left Malabar resulting in utter chaos. When British started ruling Malabar in 1810, Captain Watts trained 500 Armed Policemen. They took over the Police duties from the then existing wing of Kolkar, Defedars and Jamedars. An additional 1600 Kolkars were trained and added to do work for the Police

In 1816 a new system was introduced in Malabar by the British Rulers. As per the system the control of Police in a village was vested with the Village Adhikari, the control of Taluk Police was vested with the Thahsildar and the Control of Police in important cities was vested with Police Amines. All the above functionaries had to work under the control of the District Magistrate

The frequent rebellions against the administration of the British in area prompted the Madras Presidency to institute police reforms under the Act 24 of 1869. The whole Malabar was divided into North and South Malabar with Headquarters at Tellicherry and Calicut for smoother administration of Police. In 1906, it is estimated the Malabar Police had 188 officers and 1278 men in 106 police stations. In 1884 as a special punitive force, Malabar Special Police was organized. The great eruption of Mopla rebellion forced the authority to create strength of 600 constables in addition to British and Indian officers on 30th September, 1921 and thus began Malabar Special Police Battalion. When Kerala State was formed the Malabar Special Police was divided into two units, one was sent to Madras State and other half was retained in Kerala. Malabar had a Superintendent of Police at Kozhikode under the IG Western Range, Coimbatore with Inspector General of Police at Madras

INFANTRY TASK IN HYDERABAD POLICE ACTION IN 1948

The most glorious chapter in the history of MSP came about in 1948 during the Hyderabad police action. When the police force become necessary in Hyderabad, A police force having the standard almost similar to the Army was necessary to spear head the attack as it was the policy of the Ministry of Home Affairs under Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel. Having specific and continuous reports about the capability of MSP from all the Military inspections from the year 1929 to 1947, the Chief of the Army suggested to V.P.Menon to engage Malabar Special Police to spear-head the occupation/with the Army to give a police touch.

MILITARY OPERATION ORDER

The Commandant MSP was summoned to Delhi to finalize the procedure. Accordingly three companies of MSP were earmarked to be in the fore front of occupation which gave the unique distinction of being the first police force in the history of India to be included in a Military operation order and to be assigned an Infantry task. This historic background was disclosed by none other than F.V.Arul, IP who was then Commandant, MSP to a batch of IPS probationers at the Central Police Training College (now Police Academy) while delivering a guest lecturer in the Passing Out Week in 1960 when he was Inspector General of Police in Tamilnadu.

HYDERABAD POLICE ACTION

It was on 14th September 1949 in the action of Munirabad where two platoons of MSP had hotly engaged against a group of fully armed Rezakers supported by Hyderabad state force regulars that Constable Appu Nair of MSP made the supreme sacrifice. He was shot through the head while gallantly defending a post. He was awarded posthumously the Presidents police medal for gallantry and his widowed mother a pension; three other ranks were given the award for various acts of gallantry during the campaign. There was high appreciation show ere don MSP from all official and unofficial sources on the conclusion of the operation. Madras government issued orders confirming all the companies and making them permanent.

SOME QUOTES BY ARMY OFFICERS ON MILITARY INSPECTION

Bi-annual inspection by Army Officers of Brigadiers and above were introduced in 1929 and continued ever since expect for the period between 1940 and 1945 due to second world war, although on their renewal in 1945 it was made annual. Glowing tributes were made by senior Army Officers every time. Here are some of them. Major General Telfer Smollet, G.O.C. Madras Area on his visit in 1938-“an efficient mobile and self-reliant force which should give an excellent account of itself in the role which it is required to fulfill. MSP is a crack corps" Brigadior Visheshar Nath Singh, Sub Area Commander, Bangalore in 1948- "the guards were absolutely first class and of uniformly high standard. It was a treat to watch the men on Parade."

Major General and Commandant of the Indian Military Academy, Habiblla in 1949- “The general turn out and atmosphere within the sub units of the force indicates the very high spirit-de-corps of each and all in the force. The gazetteer officers, junior officers and men impressed me as being keen, alert and proficient at their job. The whole organization is well molded and efficiently maintained.”
